

The Future of Master Trusts in Ireland: Scale, Value and Sustainability

A large orange geometric graphic consisting of two parallel slanted lines forming a trapezoid, positioned to the right of the title text.

The Future of Master Trusts in Ireland: Scale, Value and Sustainability

This event will examine the role of Master Trusts in pension provision in Ireland and the capacity of these arrangements to meet members' needs. It will bring together senior leaders from Ireland's Master Trust providers to discuss how their propositions are positioned to deliver for members in the years ahead.

The environment for pension provision has become increasingly more demanding in the last number of years with increased regulatory oversight, pressure on costs and heightened member experience expectations. This seminar will explore how Master Trusts are equipped to face these challenges today, and into the future.

The session will also consider the emergence of in-scheme drawdown and the very different challenges of supporting members through decumulation compared with accumulation, including the governance, operational, investment, communications and resourcing capabilities that Master Trusts are building.

.

WELCOME

Joyce Brennan, CEO, IAPF

Master Trust Report Findings

Martin McAlister
Director, Pensions Practice
PwC

Where are we today?

Key themes

Implementation of an authorisation regime

IORP III & Financial Data Access (FiDA)

A focus on value for money

Investment innovation

Introduction of in-scheme drawdown

Panel discussion

Panel Discussion - The Future of Master Trusts in Ireland: Scale, Value and Sustainability

Martin McAlister
Director, Pensions Practice
PwC

Ian Moynihan
Director of Propositions,
Employer Solutions
Irish Life

Caitriona MacGuinness
Partner, Defined Contribution &
Private Wealth Market Leader
Mercer

Olive Reid
Head of Relationship
Management (Interim)
New Ireland

THANK YOU

Check out IAPF Events page
www.iapf.ie

Next event – 1st October 2026
IAPF Investment Conference

Convention Centre Dublin

